

Renee Hutcherson Lucier

Empowerment Speaker | Coach | Author | Trainer

Helping High Achievers Actively Command
POWER Throughout Their Lives

Renee Hutcherson Lucier is an Executive Coach with Trove Inc and a Certified Professional Coach, Speaker, Author and Strategist for QE3 Inspire LLC. She creates exciting, transformational experiences through retreats, webinars, impact events and workshops, as well as keynotes, training and coaching. She expertly guides promising and high-powered executives to see lessons within their obstacles, to increase the power of their 'why' and to ask dynamic questions so they delve into self-discovery and bring about self-empowered success. She equips them to conquer their struggles and live beyond their dreams at home, work and in life.

Renee has more than thirty years of diverse corporate experiences with specialized training in setting personal, team and corporate vision; establishing strategy; defining actionable steps for execution; extending leader support; as well as refining the mental, behavioral, emotional and human-centric nature. She is a master at developing emotional intelligence, manifesting compassionate leadership and igniting the radiating force of compassionate giving.

In her new book, “Get Up, Get Out, Get Going,” Renée challenges how you approach adversity and the recurring obstacles which confront you in your life by equipping you with bonafide tools that strengthen you mentally, physically, emotionally and spiritually. This guide reveals a magnificent artillery to use to defeat debilitating emotions, squash ill-serving behaviors, redirect negative thoughts and mute disabling self-talk, which is often much harder to battle. After reading it, you will have a whole new perspective on adversity, a totally different response to it and a more fulfilling promise to release into the world because of it.

Renée peels back incredible layers to convey how traumatic events within her own life resulted in her becoming penniless and losing everything. For four years, she slept on a “borrowed bed,” fighting her obsession with wallowing in rage, self-pity, blame and other destructive energies. Today, Renée reveals how she finally let go and manifested her rise. She details how to empower yourself in each area of your being so you move beyond your impossible circumstances to find meaning and joy as she has. Through this book, Renée helps us to effectuate our own healing so we move through difficulties and bring about a life we love that leaves an impact of Love.

Renee has a special talent in transferring information, connecting with her audience and motivating them into action, while uplifting hearts and imparting do-able action steps they are compelled to use. She expertly uses humor and storytelling to instantly create feelings of trust, enthusiasm, competence and worth. Her audiences, students, workshop participants, clients and readers find themselves equipped with impressive tools that they use to bring superior results in their drive for excellence.

“When we fully embrace moments where we fail miserably, in being brave, we come face to face with our purest truest self and the power to sling our arrows the farthest.”
~ Renee Hutcherson Lucier, CPC